5. Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED)

- 5.1 Under the Equality Act 2010 the Trust is required to meet the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The Trust is required to have due regard to:
 - Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act.
 - Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
 - Foster good relations across all protected characteristics between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
- 5.2 In relation to this our Equality Objectives are outlined in Appendix 2.

6. Equality Statement

There are some specific areas of the policy:

- 6.1 Xavier Trust will ensure that equal opportunities and the principles of fairness underpin all aspects of policy, procedure, education provision, consultation and decision making.
- 6.2 Xavier Trust is committed to equality in its delivery of education, whether or not the service is directly provided by us or contracted to a third-party provider. Senior leaders will monitor this education provision to ensure that students acquire the skills which enable them to be proactive in their behaviour and learning and to become responsible citizens.
- 6.3 We aim to provide high quality education services, making sure services are easily accessible. We will improve what we do by continuing to consult with staff, students, parents, governors, local communities and other partners about equality issues. We will promote our equal opportunities policy in our contact with parents, staff, governors and external organisations.

- 6.4 We will make every effort in creating equality of opportunity in order to ensure they are accessible and fair to everyone. Every person has the right to be treated fairly, regardless of any criteria as detailed on paragraph 1.3. Where necessary we will implement reasonable adjustments or additional support to ensure equality of access to an education and suitable learning and working environments.
- 6.5 Our staff and governors who plan, agree and deliver our education provision will recognise diversity and demonstrate a proactive approach in their day-to-day work. They will ensure that everyone is treated fairly, recognising special education or physical needs and understanding differences. Behaviour will reach our high standards of conduct (staff and students) and the learning environment we provide will be safe and accessible for those studying and working.
- 6.6 The Xavier Trust will adhere to statutory legislation and give consideration to other relevant guidance, which aims to make sure that everyone is treated equitably. We will work with other people and organisations to encourage fair treatment of all. We will collect information, which will help us plan and develop services to meet the special needs of all members of the community.
- 6.7 The Xavier Trust will not tolerate any form of discriminatory behaviour against members of the Trust or local community.
- 6.8 Employment:
- 6.8.1. The Xavier Trust is committed to ensuring that employees have equal access to recruitment and career opportunities, training, and professional development.
- 6.8.2. The Xavier Trust recognises that the Act extends beyond the protected characteristics of an individual employee and has broader responsibilities to employees and situations that may be covered by the Act. For example, an employee with parental or caring responsibilities for a disabled dependent may have rights under the Act which the Trust, as their employer, would need to consider.
- 6.8.3. All recruitment will be within the provisions of the Act and applications will be monitored to report on recruitment activity, in line with the Act.
- 6.8.4. We will make every effort in creating equality of opportunity for employees, ensuring these are accessible and fair to all. Where necessary we will implement reasonable adjustments or additional support, to ensure equality of access to the working environment and opportunity to undertake the job role successfully.
- 6.8.5. HR policies and procedures will be reviewed regularly to improve, adapt or amend current practices to promote equality of opportunities. All HR and employment policies will be applied consistently and fairly and refer to the provisions of the Equalities Act 2010.
- 6.8.6. In addition, employees have access to a range of policies which aim to support and encourage flexibility and diversity in our workplaces.
- 6.8.7. Employees who are in breach of this policy will be dealt with under the staff disciplinary policy.
- 6.9 Student provisions:
- 6.9.1 Xavier Trust and each school will ensure that students are provided with appropriate support to recognise their individual needs. This includes protection under the Act extending the reasonable adjustment duty to require schools to provide auxiliary aids and services to disabled students.
- 6.9.2 Protection under the Equality Act is extended to students who are pregnant, have recently given birth or are undergoing gender reassignment.

- 6.9.3 All policies relating to the provision of education, the curriculum, behaviour for learning, attendance, exclusion, medical treatment and Child Protection and safeguarding policies should consider the provisions and duties of the Act. See Section 6.
- 6.10 Contractors and service providers:
 - 6.10.1 Across the Trust we will ensure that all service providers that are contracted to provide services to students, staff or visitors will comply with Equalities Legislation.
 - 6.10.2 Where services are deemed not to meet these standards, in relation to equal opportunities and fairness, contracts may be terminated.
 - 6.10.3 Provision will be made within Service Level Agreements between the Trust, or an individual academy and service providers or contractors, which will ensure that services are made available, with due regard for fairness and equality.

7. Positive Action

- 7.1 Positive action provisions allow the Trust to target measures that are designed to alleviate disadvantages experienced by, or to meet the particular needs of, students with particular protected characteristics. Such measures will need to be a proportionate way of achieving the relevant aim.

8. Roles and responsibilities

- 8.1 The role of Directors and Local Governing Committees:

- 12.1 This policy sets out to ensure all stakeholders are treated equally and fairly during their relationship with the academy.

Appendix 1

The Equalities Act 2010 defines four kinds of unlawful behaviour – direct discrimination, indirect discrimination, harassment and victimisation.

Direct discrimination occurs when one person treats another less favourably, because of a protected characteristic, than they treat – or would treat – other people. This describes the most clear-cut and obvious examples of discrimination – for example if a school were to refuse to let a student be a prefect because she is a lesbian, or an employee was refused a promotion because of their race.

Indirect discrimination occurs when a “provision, criterion or practice” is applied generally but has the effect of putting people with a particular characteristic at a disadvantage when compared to people without that characteristic. An example might be holding a parents’ meeting on a Friday evening, which could make it difficult for observant Jewish parents to attend, or arranging the weekly CPD sessions for teachers on days when no part-time staff are available for work. It is a defence against a claim of indirect discrimination if it can be shown to be “a proportionate means of achieving a legitimate aim”. This means both that the reason for the rule or practice is legitimate, and that it could not reasonably be achieved in a different way which did not discriminate.

Harassment has a specific legal definition in the Act - it is “unwanted conduct, related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating a person’s dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person”. This covers unpleasant and bullying behaviour, but potentially extends also to actions which, whether intentionally or unintentionally, cause offence to a person because of a protected characteristic.

Where schools are concerned, the offence of harassment as defined in this way in the Act applies only to harassment because of disability, race, sex or pregnancy and maternity, and not to religion or belief, sexual orientation or gender reassignment. It is very important to recognise that this does not mean that schools are free to bully or harass pupils on these other grounds - to do so would still be unlawful as well as unacceptable. Any case against the school would be on grounds of direct discrimination rather than harassment.

Victimisation occurs when a person is treated less favourably than they otherwise would have been because of something they have done (“a protected act”) in connection with the Act. A protected act might involve, for example, making an allegation of discrimination or bringing a case under the Act, or supporting another person’s complaint by giving evidence or information, but it includes anything that is done under or in connection with the Act. Even if what a person did or said was incorrect or misconceived, for example based on a misunderstanding of the situation or of what the law provides, they are protected against retaliation unless they were acting in bad faith. The reason for this is to ensure that people are not afraid to raise genuine concerns about discrimination because of fear of retaliation.

As well as it being unlawful to victimise a person who does a protected act, a child must not be victimised because of something done by their parent or a sibling in relation to the Act. This means that a child must not be made to suffer in any way because, for example, her mother has made a complaint of sex discrimination against the school, or her brother has claimed that a teacher is bullying him because he is gay, whether or not the mother or brother was acting in good faith.

If a pupil has himself or herself carried out a protected act – such as making a complaint of discrimination against a teacher - then the child's own good faith will be relevant. For example, if the parent's complaint is based on information from her son and the son was deliberately lying, it is not victimisation for the school to punish him in the same way as it might do any other dishonest pupil. Unless it can be clear that the mother was also acting in bad faith (for example that she knew her son was lying) it would still be unlawful to victimise her for pursuing the complaint.

The Dignity at Work policy contains more specific advice and examples in relation to Harassment and Victimisation in employment situations.

Under current legislation all schools have a 'General Duty' to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act 2010.
- Advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it.
- Foster good relations between persons who share a protected characteristic by tackling prejudice and promoting understanding.

Race Equality

The general duty to promote race equality means that we have due regard to:

1. Eliminate unlawful racial discrimination.
2. Promote equality of opportunity.
3. Promote good relations between people of different racial groups.

We follow recommended procedures for dealing with racist actions or any form of discrimination. The Trust schools keep appropriate records of all incidents.

Disability Equality

The general duty to promote disability equality means that we have due regard to:

1. Promote equality of opportunity between disabled people and other people.
2. Eliminate unlawful discrimination.
3. Eliminate disability related harassment.
4. Promote positive attitudes towards disabled people.
5. Encourage participation by disabled people in public life.
6. Take steps to take account of disabled people's disabilities, even where that involves treating disabled people more favourably than other people.

Accessibility

There is specific disability legislation in relation to disabled students and accessibility which means we plan strategically over time to: Increase access to the curriculum.

1. Make improvements to the physical environment of the Trust to increase access.
2. Make written information accessible to students in a range of different ways.

We ensure that disabled students do not receive less favourable treatment and to do this the Trust has a duty to make reasonable adjustments.

Gender Equality

The general duty to promote gender equality means that we have due regard to:

1. Eliminate unlawful discrimination and harassment.
2. Promote equality of opportunity between all genders.

The duty also includes the need to consider actions to address the causes of any gender pay gaps.

Transgender and students questioning their original gender

Transgender people are explicitly covered by the gender equality duty. The term 'transgender' refers to a range of people who do not feel comfortable with their birth gender. The Trust will provide a supportive and caring environment for any member of staff or child questioning their original gender. We recognise the highly complex nature of the issues that often accompany gender dysphoria in children. Xavier schools will support children who wish to legally change their name, pronoun or gender; however, we will use the names and pronouns assigned at birth until such a time that these are changed by deed poll. The only exception to this is in certain secondary school cases where the student and their family/careers have engaged with the school to request we use a different name or pronoun. We will ensure all stakeholders have the opportunity to carefully consider all factors associated with the request to agree a joint decision regarding next steps.

Age, sexual orientation, religion, belief, pregnancy and maternity

We ensure that we do not discriminate on these grounds and we take all reasonable actions to eliminate discrimination and harassment for these equality areas.

Community Cohesion

We always aim to promote community cohesion, developing good relations across different cultures, ethnic, religious and non-religious socio-economic groups.

Appendix 2 – Equality Objectives

The Xavier Catholic Education Trust's commitment to equality, a Diversity and Inclusion steering group was set up to meet termly and report to the Xavier Board. The aims of this group are to:

1. Ensure that there is a well-considered strategy in place to promote diversity and inclusion across all Xavier schools and that, as part of this, under-represented groups are equitably treated.
2. Offer guidance and comment on, existing and proposed Xavier Trust's strategy to promote diversity and inclusion.

3. Provide a voice for under-represented groups across all Xavier schools.

In its ways of working the group will model the values, behaviours and practises it promotes.

Whilst each MAT school will publish their own set of equality objectives, the Xavier Catholic Trust has also set out the following objectives as central aims to help promote diversity and inclusion across the organisation as a whole.

In relation to Achievement:

- We are committed to improving the attainment of vulnerable groups of students, including students with Special Educational Needs, students with disabilities and those entitled to Free School Meals so that the gap between their attainment and that of other students is narrowed allowing for the best possible attainment by all students.
- We will aim to raise aspirations among children and young people, their parents and communities and raise awareness of career and higher education opportunities, to challenge stereotypes.

In relation to Teaching and Learning:

- We will ensure that our curriculum (including our programme of enrichment and extra-curricular activities) actively is broad and balanced and provides opportunities for all students and promotes understanding between different groups of people, cultures and societies. To ensure this is done with maximum impact, expertise will be used to review of our history curriculum.
- Our curriculum will include an element of PSHE education that tackles stereotypes and challenges student's perceptions.
- We will ensure that Teach South East provide appropriate training for trainee teachers in diversity and inclusion.

In relation to Behaviour and Safety:

- We will maintain a rigorous anti-bullying stance so that all students and staff, including those with protected characteristics, are protected from harassment and discrimination of all kinds.
- We will ensure the promotion of our Catholic values and British values through our curriculum. This will support and develop our students into responsible citizens of the future.
- Our behaviour policies will outline how we will deal with students who use discriminatory homophobic or otherwise offensive language.
- We will promote the use of the DIFT@Xavercet.org.uk (DIFT – Discrimination Incident Reporting Form) email address to report and manage discrimination effectively on a Trust level.

In relation to Leadership and Management:

- We will demonstrate our commitment to equality and diversity through consistent application of our policies and procedures.
- We will ensure that our systems for recruiting, retaining and managing staff (and potential applicants) support all those in groups protected by the Equalities Act.
- We will undertake equality assessments of all new and existing policies and procedures.

How we will consult and engage our stakeholders with regard to our strategy to promote diversity and inclusion:

We aim to engage and consult with our stakeholders (including parents, students, governor's staff and local communities) so we can develop our awareness and review the impact of our policies and equality objectives.

Examples of our engagement and consultation include:

- Student surveys, 'Student Voice' forums and school council structures
- Student school leader programmes
- Staff surveys
- Recognised Trade Union consultation instrument
- Parents forum
- Parent and Local Governing Committee
- Open events/Parents Evenings...
- School magazines and other communication channels
- Termly consultation with our Diversity and Inclusion Steering Group

How we will demonstrate that we meet our Equality Objectives:

The following information demonstrates how we comply and achieve our Equality Objectives:

- Reviewing pupil progress and attainment data, particularly from identified sub-groups.
This data will be used to plan intervention.
- Mentoring and enrichment programmes.
- PSHE programmes, including tutor sessions, assemblies and celebrations involving students.
- Data and information published on our websites, including Pupil Premium and SEN reports.

- Work profile data and recruitment monitoring information.
- Equality Impact Assessments.
- Policies that are in place across the Trust.
